Lithuanian Designers' Society

2013-11-03

The Lithuanian Designers' Society has a twofold aim: participating in important international exhibitions where it presents Lithuanian designers, and disseminating design. The Society maintains and develops international relations with the Latvian Designers' Society, the Estonian Association of Designers and the Shenzhen design cluster. Activities to be pursued include improving designers' qualifications and strengthening community-based relations. Building a network of national and international specialists, developing inter-institutional relations (professional development courses, conferences, seminars, creative workshops, residential activities, other events).
